live in Arizona The first that is known of the man here is his appearance yesterdsy at the Texas house where he took a room. Mrs. McBurney, the propritress, thought at the time he had been drinking, and his action-later seemed to confirm her suspicion. But Ford said he was not under the influence of l quor; he was badly inured a year previous in a Southern Pacific wreck sustaining injuries to his head in consequence that had been a source of affliction to him ever since.

Ford was uneasy, and kept running up and down stairs. He held a small bottle in his hand that looked like sul-phate of morphia. This Mrs. McBurney noticed, and also that after trips own stairs he would later show with a white fringe around his lips. Ford claimed that what he had in his hand was medicine which Dr. Turner gave him. and that it made him sick. Dr. Turner was called on by a HERALD reporter to whom he said that Ford had called at his office ear'y yesterday morning, with a request for a morphine prescription, as the druggist had refused to sell him any without a prescription. Ford said For anything in the undertaking he had been accustomed to use the drug to obtain relief However, as Dr. Turner did not know Ford. he detion.
